APPROPRIATIONS BY LEGISLATURE

Auditor Believes Large Sums Will Leave Tidy Sum

OMIT LIME-GRINDING

Prohibition Department is Allowed Considerably Less Than Asked for by Commissioner.

Richmond, Feb. 14.—Both the senate and house committee reported out late last night the appropriations bill for the ensuing biennium, setting aside the sum of $22,4668,050,70 of funds in the treasury to meet the expenditures of the state during the next two years. Of this amount, the largest ever recommended by an appropriations committee of the general assembly, $11,581,861.93 is appropriated for the year 1920 and $10,-886,188.77 is set aside for 1921.

While the appropriations carried by the bill are somewhere in the neighborhood of 40 per cent greater in the aggregate than those for the preceeding biennial period, it will come well within the revenues of the state as estimated by Auditor of Public Accounts C. Lee Moore, and leave, perhaps, a tidy sum unappropriated to meet emergency expenditures.

Estimated returns from merchants license taxes, increased at the special session of 1919, will, Auditor Moore says, make up for the deficiency between the revenues of the state, as first estimated, and the total amount of the appropriations for the next two years.

Appropriations in the bill, as reported out of committee, exceed those recommended by the governor by $324,504, but this will be more than met by the increased merchants licenses taxes.

The committee dropped from the governor's budget his recommendation that $100,000 be set aside for the building of a new lime-grinding plant

Appropriations to the University of Virginia were increased over the governor's recommendation by $39,000 a year; those to the Virginia Military institute by $20,000; appropriations to all state Normal schools were increased; $50,000 a year was inserted for the prohibition department, and $25,000 was appropriated for the physical examination of school children.

No general increase in salaries was granted, but they were given wherever such increases are obviously deserved.

PREDICTS PRICES SOON TO DROP

Gordon Says Raising of Salaries Simply Prolongs the Agony

Richmond, Feb. 19.—Fee officers in Virginia will be asking the same compensation they do now when corn drops to fifty cents a bushel. Delegate R. Lindsey Gordon declared yesterday in the course of a speech in opposition to Groome bill, increasing by $1,000 the maximum amount of fees officers in each class may receive and placing counties on the same plane as the cities with respect to compensation.

Despite Mr. Gordon's protest, however, the bill along with other fee measures set yesterday as special orders, was advanced to its third reading and engrossment and stands a good chance of passing the house when it is reached probably today, for final action.

"Officers never die and seldom resign," the delegate from Louisa declared, "and they will be coming here asking for the same things they do now when the price of corn has dropped to fifty cents a bushel. The high cost of living is bound to come down with another good crop and I protest against the raising of any salaries, except in a few isolated instances, at this particular time. All of us are suffering from the conditions. Why relieve a few at the expense of others?"

Delegate Groome told Mr. Gordon that in the last twelve months the firm with which he is connected has voluntarily raised the pay of its employes forty per cent.

"Don't you know that with that very act you prolonged the life of abnormally high prices?" Mr. Gordon asked.

"Well, we did it anyhow," Mr. Groome replied, "and we believed it was the right thing to do. My experience is that a cheap man is high at any price."

"MAD MULLAH" DEFEATED

British and Italians Use Airplanes And Tanks With Success

London, Feb. 19.—The combined operations of the British and Italians with tanks and aircraft against the "mad mullah" in Abyssina, have been very successful. The enemy was decisively defeated, and the operations have been virtually concluded, but the "mad mullah" escaped.

The "mad mullah" has recently been preaching a holy war, according to the Someli tribes.

The colonial undersecretary announced yesterday in the house of commons that the dervishes had been attacked by airplanes in Somaliland; that the mullah had escaped, but his positions were captured with much booty, and the power of the dervishes had been entirely destroyed.

SHIPPING BOARD IS ENJOINED

District Supreme Court Grants Stay in Proceedings

SHIP SALE AN ISSUE

Justice Bailey Says President Nor Appointies Have Power to Dispose of Vessels.

Washington, Feb. 18.— Justice Bailey, of the District Supreme Court, this morning granted a temporary injunction in the suit of William Randolph Hearst against the Shipping Board and ts officers, enjoining them from selling at auction, thirty German-ships, taken by the United States Government during the war.

The court referring to the legal question said: "After a careful examination of the statutes, I am of the opinion that they do not show an intention on the part of Congress to place in the President or in any of his appointees or in the defendants the power to sell these ships and that no such power has been granted by Congress."

The court further said: "At the hearing of the application for the issuance for a temporay injunction counsel for the defendants waived, for the purposes of such application all question of the right in the plaintiff to bring this suit, and the sole question submitted to the court for decision is the legal one 'whether the defendants are authorized by law to sell the ships described in the bill."

RAISE SALARY OF AUDITOR

Any Man May Be Governor But Few Can be Efficient Officers

Richmond, Feb. 19.—Persistent assaults on the ancient tradition which makes the salary of the governor of Virginia the maximum for all state officers were finally sucessful in the senate yesterday. The salary of the auditor of public accounts was raised to $5,250, just $250 more than the stipend of Virginia's chief executive Discussion of the bill was brief but spirited.

Senators Mills and Oliver were co-patrons of the measure and it was on the motion of the Richmond senator that the bill was taken up out of its order and passed.

Senator Drewry announced his unalterable opposition to fixing the salary of any state officer at a sum exceeding the salary of the governor It was dangerous, he said, and would result in the senate being overwhelmed with requests at every session.

Senator Leedy, in supporting the bill, called attention to the fact that a man must be an expert to be auditor of public accounts, while no special training or knowledge is necessary to hold the high office of governor. "Any man in this body might be governor" he said, "but I doubt if there are three who are capable of holding the office of auditor."

He declared the C. Lee Moore, the present auditor, enjoyed the reputation of being one of the most competent men in the country.

DON'T FORGET "CHERRY DAY"

Monday, February 23rd, will be "Cherry Day" in Alexandria, for the benefit of the Alexandria Playgrounds, and a committee of ladies, under Mrs. T. C. Howard, will sell cherries, as usual. This has been an annual stunt here for the past few years, and has always aided the Playground Association to maintain good playgrounds here for the kiddies during the summer months. As present plans call for bigger playgrounds than ever, with an increased force of workers, it is the earnest wish and hope of Mrs. Howard and her excellent committee that the "Cherry Day" tags will be bought by every citizen in Alexandria.

A NOVELTY DANCE

The promised "Novelty Dance" given under the Jubilee Social Club has been arranged for next Monday, February 23.

Washington's birthday coming on Sunday, the dance in celebration will be held the day following. Favors appropriate to the day will be given as well as a feature Mardi-Gras dance. Prizes will also be awarded during the evening.

A six or seven piece orchestra from Washington will furnish the music under the direction of Professor Jordon Thomas. An enjoyable evening is promised to all and this affair will mark the beginning of novelty dances in Alexandria by this club.

Virginia Senate Bill Makes Provision If Suffrage is Ratified

Richmond, Va., Feb. 19.—A bill designed to create the necessary machinery for enabling women to vote in Virginia this year should the Federal suffrage amendment be ratified is provided in a bill offered in the Senate late yesterday.

The measure serves to make certain compliance with every provision of the Constitution and statutes on the part of women desiring to vote.

Under its provisions women will be considered as "new" voters and they will have to pay poll tax of $1.50 in advance. The bill is provisional, becoming operative only should the Susan B Anthony amendment be ratified prior to the presidential election. The bill also requires that poll tax will have to be paid six months prior to voting.

SPORTS

The Dreadnoughts captured another scrappy contest last night at the Armory, defeating the fast Collegians 30 to 27, in one of the closest games of the season. The contest was nip and tuck from the first whistle, and the Dreadnoughts won out in the last few minutes. Beeton, Driefus and [illegible] featured for the locals, while Cool and Enright played well for the Washington aggregation.

The first half showed the visitors on the long end of a 16 to 14 count, but in the nightcap stanza the locals spurted, and with only a few minutes to go tied the count. Mike Frasco the registered a basket, putting the local on easy street.

Tomorrow's contest between the Dreadnoughts and Lyceums bids fair to bring out the record crowd of the season, as both teams are out for victory. Both Manager Wenzel and Manager Wheatley are priming their men for this game, as it will have a very decided affect on the league race. A win for the Lyceums will force the Dreadnoughts to extend themselves to the limit to maintain their hold on first place. The game will start at 8.15 o'clock sharp.

Tonight, the Dreadnought Athletic Club will hold an important meeting at the Community Center, starting at 8 o'clock. Candidates for baseball and membership in the club are requested to attend.

The Columbia A. C. basketball team will play the Bolling Field Aviators tonight at 8 o'clock in McBurney's Hall. The Bolling Field Aviators come to this city with a good record, and expect to capture the long end of the score. Friday night the Columbia A. C. will play the Royal A. C. of Washington and on Saturday the Loans and Currency team of Washington. The Columbia A. C. expects to capture these three games as a number of improvements have been made in the team.

THE INSTALMENT PLAN

The Gazette recently directed attention to the utility of building associations which enable persons of moderate incomes to provide themselves homes at a cost near what is exacted in the way of rents. Numbers of persons in Alexandria today own their own home, having obtained the same through the aid of building associations. When the sudden increase in population took place several years ago this fact afforded the greatest relief to such home owners, when many holders of houses began selling the same over the heads of their tenants.

While it is made possible to purchase homes upon the instalment plan, it is also the privilege of house keepers to purchase furniture and housekeeping equippage generally on the same plan. This advantage has been utilized by hundreds of Alexandrians who were not always in positions to pay cash down in every instance. Paying small amounts weekly and contracting for one thing at a time, frugal housekeepers have eventually been enabled to procure every article needed in their homes.

Frank Michelbach, one of the pioneers of the instalment plan in our city, has recently erected a mammoth building on the south side of King street, between Columbus and Alfred, which is an ornament to our principal business thoroughfare. He has placed an immense stock of housekeeping articles on the different floors. His instalment trade is expanding all the time hundreds availing themselves of his terms and easy payments. His advertisement will be found elsewhere in today's Gazette. Mr. Michelbach is one of our most enterprising citizens, and he deserves the success which has followed his fair dealings and courtesy towards all.

GROW GREY IN SERVICE

A dispatch from Strasburg, Shenandoah county, Va., says "one of the oldet employes of the Southern railroad is C. B. Pollard, road carpenter on the Washington division who has been in continuous service for 58 years. Mr. Pollard is now 84 years of age, having been born August 17, 1853. He enjoys good health and looks after his work every day on the Harrisonburg line "Uncle Jake," as he is known on the railroad, commenced work in the blacksmith shop in 1861 during the civil war. In the latter part of 1865 he was sent to Lynchburg, Va. to help erect a trestle over Blackwater. With the completion of this job he was sent to help lay iron on the Manassas Gap Railway. About this time he was appointed sub-boss on bridge force, succeeding to position of foreman upon the death of A. J. Kelley. He remained with the force until the camps were taken off, when it was transferred to Sam Anderson's bridge force. Later he was made pumper at Rectortown, Va., and then was given his present job as road carpenter. At the recent inspection "Uncle Jake" was one of the invited guests on General Superintendent R. E. Simpson's car.

Mr. Pollard was born in Alexandria, where he resided until shortly after the close of the civil war. Many years ago his father's family resided in a house which stood at the foot of Franklin street, or on the shore of what was then known as "Baptising Cove." This house with two others which adjoined it on the north were destroyed by fire during the civil war.

ANNIVERSARY OF ACCIDENT

The most serious accident in the vicinity of Alexandria occurred 35 years ago tonight, Thursday, February 19, 1885. Six or seven men were killed outright, their bodies buried in the debris and some burned almost to cinders, while others were more or less injured.

This accident will ever be known as the "Four-Mile Run Disaster." It was a head-on collision between a northbound passenger train, known as the "Louisville Express," of the Southern Railway, and a southbound freight train of the R. F. & P. R. R. It occurred at the northern entrance to the tunnel which stood at Four-Mile Run at that time. There was but one track through the tunnel which was under the old Alexandria Canal, and the express train, several hours late, assumed that the freight train was on the south bound track at a standstill waiting for the "flyer" to pass. When the passenger train drew near the tunnel, however, it was seen that the freight was moving into the tunnel and that a collision was inevitable. Both locomotives were demolished, that attached to the freight being thrown aside to the east and partly down the bank. The crash was terrific, but, strange to say, the passengers escaped serious injury.

Petroleum tanks constituted part of the freight train, and their contents catching fire the burning fluid ran out into the cove, since filled in by the improvements of 1904. The fire burned all night, and next day everything in the way of combustibles had been consumed, while twisted rails and the iron work of the freight train was bent and contorted into all sorts of shapes.

The night was very cold and snow covered the ground. The crew of the passenger train and the passengers gathered snow with which they attempted to stay the progress of the fire. They also uncoupled Pullman cars and pushed them south away from the flames.

COAL THEN AND NOW

The price of anthracite coal is more than twice as high now as it was twenty-five years ago. In the face of this serious fact we see it announced occasionally that housekeepers should procure their winter's supply as early as possible this summer, as indications are not favorable for an abundance of this commodity when the snow begins to fly towards the close of the present year. Trouble is expected from transportation facilities, it is a well-known fact that the consumer has all increases in the wages of miners to pay.

The first coal carried to Philadelphia from the Lehigh Valley district was given away when efforts to sell it failed, declared Mrs. James Monaghan, Monday in a talk before the Monday Morning Class at the New Century Club in the city of brotherly love.

"In 1803, shortly after the discovery of coal in the Lehigh region, a coal company started six loaded arks down the river. Only two succeeded in reaching Philadelphia and it was found almost impossible to secure purchasers of that small amount of fuel. Finally, in despair, the owners threw away the coal as worthless and gave it away for use in making footpaths. Colonel Geo. Shoemaker, of Pottsville, was arrested when he sold seven wagonloads to a blacksmith. He later was released when the blacksmith discovered the "black stone" could be burned.

QUOTATION LOCATED

An "Old Fashioned Democrat," in a communication printed in the Gazette last week, attributes the line, "Constitency! Thou are a jewel, alas! to one of Shakespeare's characters." On Monday Reginald de Ufford in a communication to the Gazette asked the "Old-fashioned Democrat" to locate teh line in Shakespeare. He said: Kindly tell me where in the works of Shakespeare, the line can be found. "The line was doubtless written by the immortal bard, but at the moment I am unable to locate it.'

One of our friends yesterday located the question:

Tush!tush! my lassie such thoughts. resigne,
Comparisons are cruele:
Fine pictures suit in frames as fine
Consistencie's a jewell.
For thee and me coarse cloathes are best
Rude folks in homelye raiment drest
Wife Joan and goodman Robin.

The above is credited to Jolly Robyn Roughhead. From Murtagh's Collection of Scotch Ballads, published in 1754.

DEMAND FOR GERMAN OFFICER

In giving a conditional assent to the German proposition that the demand for the surrender of persons who have been accused of war crimes be waived with the understanding that they shall be tried by the Supreme Court of Leipsic, the Allies have extricated themselves in the best possible way from a difficult if not untenable position as is suggested by cotemporaries. They had really asked for more than any self-respecting government could reasonably be expected to concede. All of Germany's most prominent army and navy officers were included in the list of those whose extradition was required. Hindenburg and Ludendorff, Mackensen and von Kluck, under whose command the greatest German victories had been won, had all been named, and so had von Bethmann Hollweg, who was the Chancellor of the Empire when the war broke out and who can hardly be held personally responsible for the invasion of Belgium, which it devolved upon him in deprecatory terms to announce.

It can easily be understood that no German Government could safely have undertaken to comply with these exactions. They must in any case have been unenforceable, for an attempt to arrest and deliver the accused would have provoked an immediate and universal resistance, but to have made the attempt would have been to precipitate a revolution which might either have assumed the form of monarchical reaction or of a Bolshevist uprising. In these circumstances the Ebert administration could not have replied to the Allied demand otherwise than it did, that is by confessing its inability to fulfill the obligations it had assumed, and by proposing the alternative procedure whose acceptance by the Allied Powers has now been announced, and there was the more reason why it should do so as it is an open secret that at least one of the Powers had its doubts about the expediency of the course which had been pursued, and was inclined to consider the demand unduly drastic.

THE FIUME DISPUTE

President Wilson's original stand on the Fiume controversy was almost universally approved in this country. It was generally approved by the liberals of all countries. The most savage of his critics, who base their criticism upon the President's alleged desertion of the Fourteen Points at Paris, make an exception of this action.

The President's original stand has been somewhat modified, though to what extent is not quite clear. The compromise proposal of last December was assented to by the United States. The present issue is between that proposal and the later one agreed to by Great Britain, France and Italy, in the framing of which the United States was ignored.

But whatever the details of the exact settlement for which the President is contending, there seems to be no doubt that the point involved is the same as the one involved in the original controversy. As the New York Times put it yesterday. "Italy originally set up strategic considerations as the basis of her demands." Mr. Wilson held that tregic considerations should be left out of account. Italy wants to dominate the Adriatic militarily and navally, even though such domination compels the inclusion of hundreds of thousands of Slavs in Italian territory and makes a future war practically inevitable.

It is the old story of the Paris Conference over again, the settlement of disputes on political rather than economic grounds or grounds of justice, according to the rule of might rather than the rule of right. The Allied Premiers, like the Bourbons, seem to learn nothing and to forget nothing. As to the manner in which the President has presented his views, we shall have to await the publication of the official correspondence before we can judge. But his main contention is sound.—(Baltimore Sun.

HOTEL FIRE KILLS THREE

Two Found in Ruins of Providence Hostelry; Leap From Window Fatal

Providence, R. I., Feb. 19.—Three guests lost their lives in a fire which virtually destroyed the Lorraine Hotel here early yesterday. Samuel Warwick, of Harrisville, was so badly injured jumping from a window that he died later at a hospital. Two bodies believed to be those of Lewis B. Kunz of Centerdale, and E. F. Fobert, of Boston, were found in the ruins.

The rest of the 106 guests of the hotel were driven into the street partly clad. The property loss is estimated at $200,000.

After several hours' search, the police said there was a possibility that other bodies might be found, as only 75 of the 106 guests had been positively accounted for.

Two upper floors of the hotel are a tangled mass of ruins.

The fire started in an inside room on the third floor, and spread by way of the elevator shaft. The guests hurried down stairs and fire escapes many having difficulty in reaching the street on account of smoke.

Further investigation convinced the police and fire officials, it was said, that there were no more bodies in the ruins.

OFFER DISABLITY LAW

House Members Would Provide for "Emergency" President

President Wilson's extended illness and the attendant discussion as to whether he was incapacitated for continuing his duties gave rise yesterday to two proposals in the House to clarify and supplement constitutional provision on the subject. It was made clear, however, that neither proposal was aimed at President Wilson, the intent being to define the procedure for future emergencies beyond any possibility of misconstruction or partisan action.

The first proposal was in the form of a resolution for a constitutional amendment, introduced by Representative Fess, of Ohio, chairman of the Republican congressional committee, proposing to have the Supreme Court determine the ability of a President to discharge his duties, whenever authorized by a concurrent resolution of Congress. If Congress was not sitting when the emergency arose, the Vice President would be authorized to call a special session.

SHIP FOREMEN QUIT UNION

Over 200 Obey Order From Baltimore Dry Docks Company

Baltimore, Feb. 19.—Following an order from the company, more than 200 foremen of the Baltimore Dry Docks and Shipbuilding Company yesterday filed their application to withdraw from their unions and are entitled to reoccupy their old positions today.

The friction between the foremen and management occurred last month when a nonunion man was refused employment by one of the foremen, who later was discharged. Officials of the company ordered the foremen to leave their unions or suffer a reduction in pay and rating. The first results came Monday when 31 foremen complied with the order.

WOLVES APPEAR IN DULUTH

Duluth, Minn., Feb. 19.—For a week a wolf pack has invaded nightly the western end of Duluth and not until last night did trappers and scores of people "lying out" for the pack succeed in killing one, wounding another and trapping a third of the pack of twelve.

Two policemen fitted with snow shoes and rifles prowled the district of Fortieth avenue West and Eighth street for nearly a week and although they saw the pack drift up and down nearby streets failed to get a shot at the wolves.

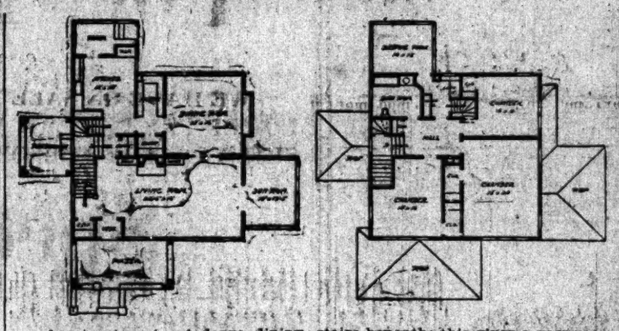
BRICK, STUCCO & HALF TIMBER DESIGN

DESIGNED BY CHAS. S. SEDGWICK, ARCHITECT

A SUBSTANTIAL frame constructed residence, 34 feet square for the main part. The rear extension is used in second story for a sleeping porch. On the right side of the main living room is a sun-room extension, and on the left is a "Portecochere" drive way and in front a wide open piazza. The walls are faced with Oriental brick up to the first story window sills and above are finished with cement stucco and the upper section between the windows and to cornice are paneled with heavy timber beams. The cornice has a wide overhang and is cemented on the underside and paneled. The roof is low-pitched and covered with slate or tile. The inside finish and floors are of hardwood, the approximate cost under existing conditions is from $12,000 to $15,000, not including heating or plumbing.

There is one large main living room across the front and without hall space, which seems to be a popular treatment. A large dining room is on the right of rear, with kitchen on the left, pantry between. There is a wide central fireplace with book shelves on each side and sliding doors leading to dining room. The main stairway on the "Combination" order is on the left side with grade entrance and basement stairs beneath; this gives a very convenient entrance at the side through the "Portecochere."



The second story has three good-sized chambers and a sleeping porch. All rooms have ample closets and the cupboard space for linen closets is also large and well lighted. The attic provides large storage space.

VIRGINIA NEWS

Representative Henry D. Flood, of the Tenth Virginia district, will not be a candidate for the United States Senate in opposition to Senator Carter Glass. Mr. Flood makes known his decision in a letter to a constituent in which he affirms his belief that long acquaintance with his duties in the House makes him of far greater value there.

A committee chosen from depositors of the Colonial State Bank of Newport News, which closed its doors last Thursday on orders from the State bank examiner, met this week to consider the best plan for investigating the failure of the bank and for recovery by the depositors of as much money as possible. Directors of the bank have asked for a conference with the committee relative to a plan for making the institution solvent again. This plan provides that the depositors become stockholders in the institution, and that a new board of directors and new officials be elected.

Mrs. Virginia Plonk, who followed her husband, Lieut. Plonk, U. S. N. from their home at Norfolk, Va., to the Pacific Coast, Japan, Vladivostok, Manila, Calcutta, Port Said and Shanghai, only to have him die in her arms when she overtook him in a hospital of interior China. She is returning to Norfolk.

Conductor J. H. Barksdale was killed and three persons slightly injured early yesterday when a Danville and Western train overturned near Buford. The rear coach was demolished completely.

The Senate Appropriations Committee yesterday eliminated from the deficiency appropriation bill an item of $451,000 for a navy drydock at Norfolk, Va.

Thrteen members of the Congressional Naval Affairs Committee arrived at Norfolk yesterday to inspect the naval base and look for evidence to support charges that money was wasted in construction of buildings, etc., during the war.

Fire originating in the stationery room of the Natonal State and City Bank in Richmond Tuesday night about 6 o'clock, practically destroyed the contents of the room and extended through the ceiling to the main floor, where office furniture and fixtures were damaged by water, with a total loss of approximately $25,000, which is covered by insurance. Confined in the basement the flames were difficult to reach. Firemen worked to gain an entrance to the building through the strong barriers in the rear, which were the only accessible means of entrance.

The State industrial commission awarded to Mrs. Katherine Lynch, of Hartford, Conn., $10 a week against the Hampton Roads Engineering and Construction Company of Langley Field, by which her husband was employed when he succumbed to sunstroke. It was held that where the contributing cause of death is heat exhaustion due to arduous and exacting work, as appeared to be a fact in the case at issue, death should be considered the result of injury arising out of employment. In some States, it was said, sunstroke even under such conditions has been held not to be an accident.

By a vote of 54 to 30, the House of Delegates Tuesday set for the second time the seal of its disapproval upon the joint resolution, passed at the regular session of 1918, so amending the constitution as to allow the state to issue bonds for highway construction.

Over the protest of a vigorous minority, the bill permitting school boards in their discretion, to admit children to school at the age of six years was passed by the State Senate Tuesday. The bill is one of a group recommended by the educational commission and was the first to pass the senate. The vote on the measure was 23 to 9. Senator Cannon, of Richmond, said that the constitutional intention was to place the minimum age at seven. This was contradicted by Senator Goolrick, who held that seven years was made the basis of distribution of funds and not the age of admission.

A charter has been granted by the State Corporation Commission to the Charlottesville Aero and Motor Corporation, which will build airplanes and deal in machinery and motor driven vehicles of all kinds. The company has secured the motor truck barracks at the University of Virginia and is installing machinery for the constructon of airplanes. The company expects to start operating in a few weeks.

Thirty-five thousand dollars went up in flames yesterday when the grain elevator of the Virginia Mills Inc., Suffolk, Va., was destroyed by fire which was discovered on the roof of the elevator about 3 o'clock. The mill and other equipment of the Virginia Mills was saved by the strenuous work of the fire department which arrived on the scene and did good work. The elevator was partly filled with corn, and the loss came at the opening of the busy season at the mill. Loss will be between thirty thousand and thirty-five thousand. The fire was thought to be caused from sparks from a nearby factory.

Benjamin Alexander, 25, son of C. L. Alexander, colored, a preacher at a Petersburg negro church, was Tuesday adjudged insane by a commission of lunacy, and committed to the Central State Hospital. The negro ran amuck Tuesday night with a pocket knife when seized with a fit of insanity, and before he could be overpowered cut and seriously wounded his 6 year old sister, her playmate and his mother. The negro had formerly been an inmate of an insane asylum, but showed no signs of insanity until Tuesday night, when he suddenly became mad, and, grabbing up the knife, slashed his sister about the neck and head. Leaving her, he cut the other girl about the face and shoulders, and when his mother attempted to wrest the knife from him, she received severe cuts about the arms and head. He was finally overpowered and turned over to the police.

WAR RECORD OF FORD'S SON

Vitriolic Attack on Detroit Men Made By Illinois Senator, Who Threatens to Bolt Party

Washington, D. C., Feb. 19.—Unless Senator Newberry is vindicated in the Michigan election case the Republican majority in the Senate will be but one vote, Senator Sherman, of Illinois stated yesterday. That vote, he said, was in his hands and he warned the Republicans that they must be Republicans or "there will be one of there number who will be anything."

The threat of the Illinois Senator to bolt the majority and embark upon a free course was delivered today after Republican members had failed to support his proposal to take the draft records of the several States available to Senators representing each State, and after Sherman had launched a vitriolic attack against Henry Ford and his son.

Sherman had already threatened to bolt the Lodge leadership on the Peace Treaty if any concessions are made to the Democrats.

Senator Sherman yesterday sought to amend the Deficiency bill and provide for the care of draft records at the War Department, but Senator Wolcott, of Delaware, raised a point of order, maintaining that the draft records should not become public property and that the Senator from Illinois was seeking access to them in order that the exemption of Edsel Ford migh be brought into the Michigan political quarrel.

Sherman declared that such was his purpose, and while Wolcott later withdrew his objections, the amendment was lost by Senate vote.

"If there had not been thirty cents spent in Michigan by Newberry, Ford would have been beaten on the record of his family in the war," declared Senator Sherman.

He served notice on the Privileger and Elections Committee that he proposed to produce the exemption papers of Edsel Ford and told of the difficulties encountered in trying to get these from the War Department Adjutant General Harris, after conferring with Secretary Baker, having told him that they could not be seen

GERMANS MUST REDUCE ARMY

London, Feb. 19.—The supreme council yesterday handed to German Envoy St. Hamer a note stating it expects enforcement of Article 160 of the peace treaty regarding reduction of the German army. How Much Does a Good Watch Cost?

THE automobile has been instrumental in teaching us to figure costs.

The purchase price—plus the upkeep—divided by the years of service—gives you the actual cost.

On that basis a good watch is the cheapest thing of value that you can own. A good watch is a necessity and will last a lifetime.

Our stock is ample for all needs.

INFLUENZA

More men have been killed in the United States by influenza since October 1, 1918, than the entire death roll of our soldiers, sailors and marines during the big war. More killed? Yes, ten times as many, and unfortunately the influenza is again with us, while the war is now a matter of history.

Everyone realizes the terrific toll of the pestilence that is raging. Never was there a time when Life Insurance was so much sought after. Never was there a time when Life Insurance was so much needed.

The only questions for YOU to decide are 'How much additional Life Insurance do I need?' and "How soon can I get it?" Then get immediately in touch with

BOY SAVES BABY'S LIFE

Prospect Park Lad Crawled on Roof to Catch Infant Tottering on Edge

Chester, Pa., Feb. 19.—Climbing out of a second-story window onto a shed yesterday, a three-year-old son of Mrs. James Price, of Prospect Park, eluded the mother's frantic efforts to stop him and in a few minutes would have been dashed to death on the ground, but for the timely arrival of Burton Hicks, twelve years old, who captured the child just as he was about to fall. Hicks reached the baby by crawling through the window out of which the child had escaped.

Mrs. Price swooned when she thought her child was about to fall to its death. Hicks is the hero of Prospect Park today. "Oh, it was dead easy," replied the boy when praised for his good work. "Anybody could have done it." Burton is a pupil in the Prospect Park public schools.

HIS $1,000 FIND SEIZED

Man Buys Valise For $1.60; Discovers In It Valuable Drug

Danville, Va., Feb. 19.—The Government has seized morphine valued at $1,000 which was purchased by Hendricks Brown at a sale of unclaimed suitcases and grips at a local express office last Saturday. Brown paid $1.60 for a valise, in which he found 12 bottles containing a white flaky powder. Dr. J. E. Taylor, a local physician, told Brown that he had at least a thousand dollars' worth of morphine.

GETS DENTISTS' GOLD

Robbers at Bristol, Va., Get $1,000 Worth From Offices

Bristol, Va., Feb. 19.—Search is being made here by the police for thieves who entered the parlors of five local dentists and stole gold and platinum fillings valued at $1,000.

No clue has been found yet, the work evidently being that of expert, who left no trace of entrance or exit to the dentists' offices.

"FLU" IN AFRICA

The epidemic of influenza extended to Africa, but there the prescription for it differed considerably from that used in the United States, T. B. Brinton, missionary at Kapanga, Congo Belge, declares.

Witch doctors attempted to cure the people of their malady by scattering an ancient remedy through the village. This remedy, which is carried in a big jar kept carefully closed, consists of the manure of certain animals, and the bark of certain trees, all mixed together with water. The people were told to wash their bodies in this water to make them immune from any attack of the disease.

"In the middle of the night the witch doctor fell ill of influenza in a certain village," Mr. Brinton relates. "He was not able to get up in the morning. The teacher of God then called the people together and began to preach to them. He asked who was the stronger, this witch doctor or God."

"God,' said the people. 'The witch doctor is sick.' Since then they will have nothing to do with the witch doctor.'"—World Outlooks.

WAR DRAFT DODGERS

A round-up of wilful draft deserters is to be started at once, the War Department announced yesterday. There are 173,911 listed as drafted deserters. They will be prosecuted vigorously, it was stated.

Lists of offenders will be published either in whole or locally in sections, for the information of the Department of Justice and local police, it was announced.

Registrants who failed to obey orders to entrain, for mobilization camps, but subsequently served honorably in the army, navy or Marine Corps before the armistice, will be relieved of the charge of draft desertion.

BELIEVE DOCTOR SLAIN

Body Found Near Grantsville, Md., Thought to be Physician's.

Grantsville, Md., Feb. 19.—A watch and physician's thermometer found in the clothing of the man whose body was discovered near here, tends to the belief that the man was Dr. David Gildner, aged 55, of Rockwood.

The body was discovered Sunday when a dog carried a human foot into the home of Joseph Frost. Dr. Gildner left in a taxi on the night of November 8 to answer a call at the Miller home, but never reached there. It is said he had been threatened by men whom he proposed to expose for illegal liquor selling.
